

Saturday May 15 at 7pm there was a Book Conversation at ANT Book Stores & Cafe, Speaker Paul Moses a professor of journalism at Brooklyn College and the City University of New York Graduate School of Journalism talked about the book "The Saint and the Sultan: the Crusades, Islam and Francis of Assisi's Mission of Peace".

Guests had a chance to conversant about the book with Paul Moses. It was a great and wonderful evening.

Paul Moses is a professor of journalism at Brooklyn College and the City University of New York Graduate School of Journalism. He is a former senior religion writer, City Hall bureau chief and city editor at Newsday, where he was the lead writer in news coverage that won a Pulitzer Prize. More info is available at www.saintandthesultan.com

The event was held at ANT Book Stores & Cafe located at 345 Clifton Ave. Clifton, NJ 07011.

Some Pics from the Event below:

